IJJO INTERVIEWS

IRELAND

Ms. Emily Logan. Ombudsman for Children, Ireland

Ms. Logan provides us a description of her Institution activities and objectives. She also introduces us in the juvenile justice model and what kind of sanctions based in the community are imposed when a child is found guilty of an offence. She thinks that Ireland is moving in the right direction in youth justice and expresses here satisfaction because of the paper that here office has made in this matter, being one of the most important achievements the end of the use of adult prisons to detain 16 and 17 year old boys.
