The 'CLEAR' project: legal education adapted for children

OIJJ

The 'Children's Legal Education - Adapted Resources' ('CLEAR') project, of which the IJJO is a partner, has recently published three informative manuals and a toolkit. The project operated across 5 European member states, with the goal of giving children a better understanding of their rights and obligations in an EU context, and strengthening prevention of juvenile crime.

The IJJO supports the Mexican Secretariat of the Interior (SEGOB) in the creation of a community policing model

OIJJ

Within the framework of the EU-funded EUROSociAL II programme, the International Juvenile Justice Observatory (IJJO) is carrying out collaborative technical work on the design of a unique community policing model in Mexico. As part of this work a workshop was held last December to provide support and establish some guidelines and a detailed structure for the design of the community policing model in coordination with the Interministerial Commission for the Social Prevention of Violence and Crime, the Sub-Secretariat for Crime Prevention and Citizen Participation - organs of the Secretariat of the Interior -, and other Mexican organisations. Peru: Facilitating female juvenile offenders' reintegration into society

OIJJ

The work of the Santa Margarita Diagnostic and Rehabilitation Centre continues as an example of the recent movement towards restorative juvenile justice in Peru, and also of an initiative geared towards the specific conditions of female juveniles, including a specific scheme for teenage mothers. The centre, formed in 1997, serves as a space for the reintegration of young women in conflict with the law back into society. [+]

The 2014 CPT Report provides recommendations for children deprived of liberty

OIJJ

The Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (CPT), dependant of the Council of Europe, makes a series of recommendations for the treatment of juveniles in police custody and detention centres in its 2014 report, released in January. The report does so in order to prevent and eradicate practices contrary to children's rights in the European region. [+]

IJJO INTERVIEWS

PORTUGAL

Pedro Calado, High Commissioner for Migration and National Coordinator of the Choices Programme (Programa Escolhas). Portugal

In this interview, Pedro Calado talks in depth about the Choices Programme (Programa Escolhas), which promotes the social inclusion of children and youths of the most vulnerable communities in Portugal. Pedro Calado graduated in Geography from the University of Lisbon, with a specialisation in education, holding a Master's degree in Geography from the University of Lisbon/University of Sheffield, with a specialisation in "Exclusion, Society and Territory". In 2011 he took the INSEAD Social Entrepreneurship Programme. Consultant and external evaluator in various organisations, such as the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, he is also a founder and volunteer in various organisations of the third sector. Mr. Calado is currently working as the High Commissioner for Migration, and the National Coordinator of the Choices Programme. He has been the Choices Programme delegate in the European Crime Prevention Network (EUCPN), and the award winner, in 2003, of the European Heinz Roethof Prize, conferred by the European Union. In December 2014 he collected on behalf of the Choices Programme the 'Juvenile Justice without Borders' International Award, given by the International Juvenile Justice Observatory. [\[+\]](#)
