Young offenders' delinquent recidivism from the Madrid Community: evaluation, delinquent characteristics and prediction models

José Luis Graña Gómez, Vicente Garrido Genovés and Luis González Cieza

Spain - The general aim of this study is to characterize those minors in detention centres from the Madrid Community Agency for the Re-education and Re-insertion of Young Offenders according to their delinquent characteristics, and at the same time, validate an instrument known as IGI-J (Inventory for the Management and Intervention with Young People), which allows us to evaluate static and dynamic risk factors to explain delinquent behaviour, as well as to develop educational-therapeutic intervention objectives.
