United Nations Guidelines on Justice in matters involving child victims and witnesses of crime

31/07/2008

IJJO / International Juvenile Justice Observatory

International - The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and UNICEF have elaborated the United Nations Guidelines on Justice in matters involving child victims and witnesses of crime.

The right to be heard, protected and also to be treated with dignity and respect during the justice process of child victims and witnesses of crime are some of the principles that were included in these United Nations Guidelines.

The Republic of South Africa. Child Justice Bill

11/07/2008

IJJO / International Juvenile Justice Observatory

National, South Africa - The International Juvenile Justice Observatory (IJJO) informs you about the re-conceptualisation of the juvenile justice bill by the South African Parliament.

This bill was originally introduced in 2002 and debated in 2003 but has not yet been approved. This text provides alternative measures for the protection of the rights of minors in conflict with the law as well as the implementation of socio-community measures to encourage the minor's future positive integration.
