The International Juvenile Justice Observatory (IJJO) obtained operational relations with the UNESCO IJJO

The United Nations Organization for Education, Science and Culture (UNESCO) has recently recognized the International Juvenile Justice Observatory (IJJO) by establishing operational relations between both organizations.

Through the development of this institutional cooperation and relation between both entities, both regulated and non-regulated education will be promoted for children in social exclusion and in conflict with the law as well as specialised training for the practitioners involved in juvenile justice. COLLABORATION FORUM

Recent Studies in Europe agree on the high prevalence of mental disorders of young offenders. In the daily clinical practice there are great social, psychological and psychiatric differences which give a big heterogeneity to the group of young people who commit illegal acts. Therefore it is of fundamental
