International Seminar on Human Rights and Probation

IJJO

The International Seminar on Human Rights and Probation organized by the General Directorate of Social Reinsertion from the Ministry of Justice of Portugal took place in Torres Novas (Portugal) on the 21st and 22nd of April 2010. An important number of experts in the field of human rights, justice and criminology came together to share their experience on how to respect Human Rights in the penitentiary systems in Europe and at the international level.

The IJJO was invited to take part at this Seminar and raised this opportunity to highlight the importance of implementing articles 37 and 40 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child. Besides, the IJJO presented its International Campaign "Two decades of Juvenile Justice: improvements since the adoption of the Convention on the Rights of the Child". [\[+\]](#)

EUROPEAN UNION

Brussels. Council of Education, youth and culture. May 2010

IJJO

Last May 11th 2010, the International Juvenile Justice Observatory (IJJO) attended the European Council meeting on Education, Youth and Culture, personally gathering together all the Ministers of Education of the European Union (EU).

This meeting was chaired by the representative of the Spanish EU Presidency and the Minister of Education, Ángel Gabilondo, together with Mrs Androulla Vassiliou, European Commissioner for Education, Culture, Multilingualism and Youth. Between the different themes to deal with, there was the reduction of school drops out by 10%, which nowadays has an average around 15%, and also the improvement of higher education bringing the access up to 40% of the European Population. These goals were set in the "Europe 2020 Program", European strategy to increase employment, productivity and social cohesion, together with education promotion and European Universities modernization. Danysabel Caballero. Universidad Especializada de las Américas

This is a descriptive, cross-sectional study of classroom violence, the main instruments of which emerged from analysis of the most relevant bibliography, in the four state primary schools of the San Felipe corregimiento (administrative subdivision). In this precinct, which has the highest rate of violence in Panama City, a representative sample was selected of 319 fifth- and-sixth-grade pupils in primary education. [+]

COLLABORATION FORUM

Given the recent publication of an English Guide of Guarantees for teachers allowing the use of physical force to stop the students' possible violent acts (you can read the Spanish translation the team from Studies for Childhood (Argentina) made on: www.noveduc.com), we want to open the debate on the ideological, moral, psychological and pedagogic, if any, meaning and value of the physical aggressions between teachers and students.

Which objective and subjective factors do you believe to be able to motivate a child or young person to react against the teacher with physical aggression?
